All members are invited to attend IFA Board Meetings (6 times per year). These meetings are meant to encourage networking, creativity, and excitement about an important segment of Indiana's heritage and economy. These are also the times that board members will be evaluating submitted food products to decide if they are worthy to use the IFA logo. As marketing and networking opportunities, food artisans and producers are encouraged to make enough samples for board members and attending members for evaluation. In order for any restaurant or food product to be accepted into IFA they must pass the site or product assessment. This includes coordination of site assessments appointments between IFA representatives. Assessments need to be completed within 60 days of receipt of payment.
