

Join the Indiana Foodways Alliance

The IFA is a non-profit membership organization that brings Indiana food producers, farm markets, specialty food manufacturers, grocers and retailers, restaurants, chefs, good cooks and people who love good food together to enrich the awareness of Indiana's great culinary culture and heritage, and to promote Indiana's foods and traditions.

MEMBERSHIP

All members are invited to attend IFA Board Meetings (6 times per year). These meetings are meant to encourage networking, creativity, and excitement about an important segment of Indiana's heritage and economy. These are also the times that board members will be evaluating submitted food products to decide if they are worthy to use the IFA logo. As marketing and networking opportunities, food artisans and producers are encouraged to make enough samples for board members and attending members for evaluation. In order for any restaurant or food product to be accepted into IFA they must pass the site or product evaluation.

LEVELS

Individual: $60

Individuals and families can become more involved in taking pride in what is uniquely Indiana and help tell the story of what is authentic to our state. At this level you can nominate your favorite culinary product or restaurant. Then you write a blog about it with entries appearing on the Indiana Foodways Alliance Website. This is also great for Indiana History classes or college tourism/culinary courses. Ask for more details on how this can be incorporated into the curriculum.

Food Artisan/Food Trucks: $121

Do you create an artisanal food product within Indiana and have fewer than 15 employees? Being a member of IFA can help with marketing your product and networking with others. With this level you will receive a product assessment, the right to use the IFA logo (after review by the IFA Board), and a listing on IFA's website. You will also be allowed to submit blog entries and an e-newsletter article. If your county's official tourism office, chamber of commerce, or economic development office is a member.

Food Producer: $363

(15 or more employees) Indiana has been the birthplace of many exceptional food products. Many have created successful businesses that still call Indiana home, employ Hoosiers, and are positively contributing to their communities. By joining IFA you support an organization helping smaller businesses grow and you help define Indiana food products. Hoosiers become more aware that you are an Indiana employer and others take notice of Indiana products. With this level you will receive a product assessment, the right to use the IFA logo (after review by the IFA Board), and a listing on IFA's website. You will also be allowed to submit blog entries.

Individual Restaurant: $244

If you have a restaurant in a county that's tourism office, chamber of commerce, or economic development office is not a Charter Member or Partner, you can still benefit and be involved in IFA. This level includes one culinary tourism site assessment, detailed profile or history on the IFA website, and a listing on IFA's culinary trails. You will also be allowed to submit blog entries and have your website linked to IFA.

Non-Profit Promotions Office: $244

This level helps smaller tourism offices, chambers, and economic development offices have a presence in IFA's marketing material. This level includes two culinary tourism site assessment, profile, and a listing on IFA's culinary trails. You will also be allowed to submit blog entries, culinary event listings, and have your website linked to IFA.

Charter Member: $605

This level includes all non-profit promotions office benefits for 5 nominated sites or products. Each Additional Site: $121 Each

Partner: $1,210

This level includes all non-profit promotions office benefits for 10 nominated sites or products. In addition, you will receive recognition at events and on printed materials. Each Additional Restaurant Site: $121 Each
